Four railroad lines connect Monterey with the United States, and to such connections are undoubtedly largely due the great trade which exists between the United States and this district. In addition to the conveniences that the all-rail routes afford the shipper, through bills of lading to Monterey are given New York shippers over the Ward Line ships via Tampico and the Mexican Central Railway. There are also steamship connections through Tampico with Galveston and some of the other Gulf ports in the United States. It is believed that in the near future the Rio Grande River will be bridged between Matamoros and Brownsville, making another through connection by rail between Monterey and the American cities, as standard gauge roads have already been completed and only await the bridge across the Rio Grande to complete this desirable connection. The Mexican Central has completed a line between Monterey and Saltillo, so that there are now two railroads connecting these cities. The number of railroad connections with the United States and with the other cities of northern Mexico tend to make Monterey the distributing point for large quantities of American goods, and it is destined to become the great jobbing center for northern Mexico. EXPORTS TO THE UNITED STATES. The exports from Monterey to the United States during the fiscal year 1905 amounted to $11,722,478 gold, and for the calendar year 1906, $15,261,443, of which the following were the leading articles:...
